

ABSTRACT

[0052] Briefly, a device, system and method of signal detection for wireless network. A method in accordance with an exemplary embodiment of the invention may include, for example, engaging a first signal from a first access point / station, and, during engagement, searching and/or detecting and/or engaging a second signal transmitted by a second access point / station.